NOTE FROM SAC A. SPITZ:

Appreciate the quick response on this. I've arranged for a flight from D.C and the tickets should arrive shortly - pack light, I've got some office space and requisition in the HQ here in Dallas.

Find attached all the information I have on the case at this time - it isn't much and the local PD isn't being helpful: there's some upset that we're moving in. I'll discuss it more in person when you arrive.

Our mandate is that these potential victims have had their constitutional rights infringed by certain irregularities in how their cases were handled, based on their ethnicity. This is paper-thin and won't stand up so tread lightly: try and work through the detective who called this in (Cortes) and don't upset anyone unless you think it will stand up.

COVER LETTER FROM CORPORAL J. CORTES:

Please find attached what we have so far. Some details are being withheld by Richardson PD pending paperwork. Please contact Chief Stone with any requests. I've forwarded your planned itinerary and contact details, so they will be expecting you.

An overview of the case so far:

Three individuals in their early teens have been reported missing from the Richardson area over the last month - the first (Jonah Jackson) was reported missing on the 3rd of August from his suburban home, the second (Filipe Cruz) vanished from Richardson Public Library on the 17th and, most recently the third (Francisca Martinez) was apparently abducted on the 25th in an attack that has left her aunt (Maria Pérez) in a critical condition.

All three missing persons are from working class minority families and the first two (Jackson and Cruz) were initially treated as runaways due to circumstances around their disappearances (see attached profiles and notes). Martinez prompted me to push for Agency involvement as the similarity between the missing persons' backgrounds, the chronological proximity between their disappearances and apparent 'ramping up' to a violent abduction suggests a potential serial perpetrator that would benefit from Agency support. I also believe delays in properly investigating the initial disappearances may have impacted and continue to impact the safety of the missing persons.
